Social work and counselling services

Social work is about helping people get through difficulties. Counselling is about helping people understand how they feel. Also in this group are jobs looking after children and young people. No exam level jobs...

Care Assistants

Care Assistants help people with their day-to-day care. They work with people who are ill, elderly, or disabled. They help them to do the things they are not able to do for themselves.

Nanny

Nannies look after children and babies. They usually work in the home of the children they look after. They do this while the children's parents are out at work or have something else they have to do. Some

Nursery Assistant

Nursery Assistants help nursery nurses to look after babies and young children. They usually work in a nursery, but may work in a school or hospital. Nurseries usually take on children up to the age of five. Some take children up to eight during holidays and after school.
